❖ PARISH NOTES

Anyone who has striven over time to remain faithful knows that a commitment expressed in a moment necessarily passes through a lifetime of growth and development, of deepening and testing, of becoming ever truer. That is one dimension of what the Christian Scriptures present in the variety of Pentecost accounts. Luke gives us a full 50 days of post-resurrection appearances, instructions and waiting, before the disciples experienced their baptism by fire and the Holy Spirit. According to John, Jesus breathed the Spirit into the disciples on the evening of the "first day of the week." In reality, the Spirit's action in them started when they met Jesus and deepened each time they acted in Jesus' name. Today, our psalm has us pray, "Lord, send out your Spirit and renew the face of the earth." We should be very careful about praying that, because God could take us at our word. The Acts of the Apostles tells us that when the disciples began to preach, the people were confused because they all understood them in their own language. People who were accustomed to boundaries that divided one group from another suddenly found themselves swept up in the same movement. The old, easy separations fell away as a bunch of yokel Galileans shared a message that made their hopes sail and set their hearts on fire. But that is the least of it. On the day when the resurrected Christ first became present in their midst, the disciples were struggling to take in the fact that death wasn't what they thought it was, that Jesus was risen, and that he had come to them offering peace. In the midst of their dizzying confusion, Jesus said, "As the Father has sent me, so I send you." He was not simply forgiving them but inviting them to share in his own relationship with God. So just as God the Creator had done after fashioning the human creature, Jesus breathed over them, suffusing them with his Spirit and his mission. Then, he gave them the one necessary command that would keep his mission alive in and through them: "Forgive." That was it. No catechism, no dogma, no institution; no orders, hierarchy, hymns or liturgy. Just forgiveness.

❖ THE SPIRIT OF THE LITURGY

Pentecost

When Jesus miraculously appeared in their midst, the disciples must have been terrified. To calm and comfort them, Jesus said,
"Peace be with you." Then, Jesus charged them with the great responsibility of spreading the faith. He breathed the Holy Spirit into them, fulfilling his Ascension promise and clothing them with power from on high. We are similarly clothed and recharged with that power on this Pentecost feast.

PRAYER FELLOWSHIP
